Hamlin Is A Great Cotton Concentration Point For Government-Loan Cotton

TEN OR TWELVE GREAT WAREHOUSES PILED HIGH WITH THOUSANDS OF BALES

This cotton season finds Hamlin the center of the greatest concentration of cotton this part of Texas has witnessed ever before.

In conversation with Superintendent, McCurdy of the Compress, Wednesday, he said that it looks enormous now because cotton is concentrating in Hamlin and not moving on as usual. He remarked that several years ago his compress handled 35,000 bales in one month, far more than all now centered in Hamlin. That may be true OK but to see about twelve great metal warehouses jammed full of cotton and cotton bales "row upon row" and row after row in every direction in Hamlin makes one wonder why anybody should ever go with scanty clothing or sleep cold anywhere in the world. . . . cotton, cotton, everywhere and somebody with not a rag to wear.

It is quite singular that so many people in this banner cotton section and state have never been in or around a gin or compress or cotton oil mill. It doesn't sound reasonable. But just the other day, a freshman in the High School was heard to say that she had never been inside of a cotton gin.

East Hamlin is given mostly to great expansive areas of lots, laid out years ago when somebody thought that this would be a second "where the West begins," and today these great lots present a scene that will challenge the Fort Worth Frontier areas, or even the great Ringling Bros.-Sells-Floto Circus tent. All the great shiny new warehouses need to make 'em look like a vast show place is a lot of pylons, flying pennants, and a bit of red-white and blue. The cars are there, the men and women are all about, and the row after row of bales make up a very picturesque show.

Hamlin has also four busy cotton gins, about which are rows and rows of cotton bales, and trucks and trucks and wagons full of cotton waiting their turns to the suction pipes. This is true in all surrounding sections, but the scene is magnified because the government is advancing loans on the cotton and it has to be stored and protected from the weather. Everybody is busy in some angle of the reception and disposal of the cotton. It is coming here from an area of many miles by rail, by truck and private conveyance. Strangers on every corner, cotton men with lint from their heads to their toes, stenographers of every description and others trying to beg, borrow or steal typewriters to get in to help.

Hamlin is ideally located for concentration of cotton. It is being delivered here from Benjamin on the north to Logworth, and Rotan on the west. While a great deal is reaching Hamlin from the south part of Jones County and parts of Taylor county. Much of the Anson cotton is being concentrated in Hamlin.

NEINDA GIN IS LEADING
Owing to a broken phone line a report could not be had from Neinda this Thursday but last Monday the Neinda Gin had already ginned more than 3,200 bales. While that is a big figure they expect to go to the 5,000 notch this season.

Ginning is still in full blast in Hamlin and will likely continue a week or more yet.

The various cotton handling firms in Hamlin along with the four gins, using every available typist and typewriter possible. This is a good example of the clerical force needed to keep track of the thousands of bales in Texas.

MANY WAREHOUSES, and MANY MORE BUILDING AND TO BE BUILT

A visit to "cotton town" Wednesday showed the Compress with one warehouse 100x256 feet, holding 5,500 bales. No. 2 warehouse just built 80x182 feet with 3,600 bales. No. 3 in course of construction, 76x192 feet to hold 3,400 bales. No. 4 warehouse grounds laid out to be 80x304 feet to hold 5,500 bales. Already on this spot there is enough cotton near by to fill the house when built. These warehouses are permanent structures, all being set on concrete blocks, well anchored and enclosed with sheet iron, top and walls fire proof. No speck of water can enter on top or under any of the cotton in these houses.

ROBERT JOHNSON HAS FOUR BIG WAREHOUSES

The pioneering in government cotton in Hamlin may be accorded to Robert S. Johnson or T. E. Harden. Today Johnson has four great warehouses, all built of sheet iron and to date he has received 8,500 bales and will likely start his fifth house this week-end.

W. L. BOYD BUILDS BIG HOUSE

Starting late, W. L. Boyd constructed a warehouse to handle 2,500 bales and this mark has already been passed and the second building will be in progress in a day or two.

PIONEER GIN REALLY PIONEERED IN COTTON

T. E. Harden, was the first man in Hamlin to start the warehouseing of government controlled cotton. This year his warehouse has been more than filled, and still is receiving cotton.

DAY HARDWARE STORE FRONT LOOKS GOOD

The spirit of improvement is a thing that will just up and move. This is well illustrated at the John T. Day Hardware store. They have finished their remodeling and the front is really modern. It is done up with black tiling bulkheads to decorate the show windows, and the windows and all trimmings are of a deep orange.

A display of goods in these windows shows vividly in the evening sun and under the night lights.

"Night lights"—that reminds us, that a well lighted business section in anybody's town is worth the money. And we are not boosting for the light suppliers when we say that. Let's have more fronts dolled up and then let's have more and better light in our town.

We will never know how sweet liberty is until we have sold it away in some seizure of hatred and fear.

HARDEN HOTEL USING NEW ANNEX

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE NEW HARDEN HOTEL

For several months observers of progress in Hamlin have kept an eye on the construction of the extensive modern annex for the Harden Hotel on South Central Avenue.

This structure was projected by young Thad Harden of A. & M. College, who is majoring in Architecture. He spent most of his summer vacation seeing that everything in his "blue prints" was carried out to the dot. The work was done by the Shelburn Construction Company. A few days ago most of the new addition of the hotel was occupied and is now a prominent part of its comfort and attraction in Hamlin.

Mrs. T. E. Harden has taken great pride in the progress of her son in College and this is a clear demonstration of his accomplishments in architecture and is a concrete thing to be enjoyed by her. She is in personal charge of the hotel and with the sixteen new rooms on the second floor and the suite of handsome and modern living quarters on the first floor, she may well rest easy for she has a place that will measure well with the best hotels in the larger cities. The Coffee Shop department and a few other minor details are not yet open for inspection, but as is always the case with a new structure, especially in a small town, many factors of building have to be taken as best one can.

One of the main features of the new part of the hotel is the lighting and decorations, which embody the latest. Every small detail for convenience and comfort has been incorporated. It is a "home-like" place.

The water question has been given much thought in the new hotel. A huge underground cistern has been arranged, and with an electrical compressor the 25 rooms of the hotel will always have the best of water and pressure. The natural fall of rain water will perhaps supply the needs of the hotel and if not it is so arranged that water shipped in by railroad can be put into the reservoir easily.

One other admirable feature about the entire hotel building which has ample living quarters and 25 guest rooms, each with private bath and well lighted, there is one section occupied by a large auto service station and tire service, making this an ideal place for the traveling public. It is all, what might be termed "Fire Proof."

Again let the Herald say "Congratulations" to Mrs. Harden and her son Thad, Jr. The hotel is a credit to any city, and especially to a town of Hamlin's size. May your experiences and efforts be continued in much enjoyment and profit, is the wish of the Hamlin Herald.

Bro. J. A. Young Visits State University After An Absence of 53 Years

Below is an interesting article clipped from an Austin paper, the Texan.

Mr. Young is one of the pioneer farmers of Fisher County, and a man beloved by all who know him.

The reprint below is as given in the University paper except the picture where Mr. Young stands by the side of a Freshman girl and both point to the group of great buildings. The picture is labeled, "The Present and the Past." The article reads:

Suppose that Friday you had returned to the campus after an absence of fifty-three years and that all you remembered as "the University was Old Main Building.

What would you feel?

That was the experience snow-haired J. A. Young went through Friday when he returned to the Forty Acres from his home in Hamlin to visit the place where more than half a century ago he had been the first assistant ever employed by an educational institution then in its cradle days, The University of Texas. Curiously enough, Mr. Young had never until this year revealed outside of his family his early connection with the University.

"Unbelievable change," Mr. Young said there had been since 1883 when came the first registration day. To take care of the one building school Dr. John W. Mattet, Irish born first chairman of the faculty and professor of chemistry, needed an assistant. He selected the 22-year old Swedish immigrant who had come to Texas two years previously. At $20 a month Mr. Young then began as the first assistant in the eight-professor University.

Went To West Texas
He remained here the first session 1883-1884, then married and went to West Texas to make the home where he now lives.

Yesterday he returned to the campus, stroking a white goatee, his keen eyes bright. With him came his daughter, other members of his family, and the Rev. W. F. Rutherford. After a visit to President J. W. Calhoun, Mr. Young toured the "unbelievable change."

In front of the main building he admired the cornerstone of Old Main there preserved. "Right here where I am standing was what then was the University," he said. "It was the only building, and I personally unpacked, dusted, and set in order $65,000 worth of electrical equipment that had been ordered for the laboratory. That was my first job."

All New
Twenty-seven stories up the Library Tower elevator went Mr. Young. North east, south—all was new to him. But in the west he saw the Woman's Building "Look, I remember when that was built," he exclaimed. "There used to be a wooden fence around the campus."

In the distance the Capitol dome claimed his attention. "I helped build the Capitol," he commented. "When I left the University I got a position as carpenter. A railway was built from the Burnet quarry running in to the center of the building. Large cranes were built on each side of the track and lifted the massive granite from the flat cars to their respective places."

Through a friend the late President H. Y. Benedict last year heard of Mr. Young and wrote to him. The former U. T. employee answered, and it was discovered that he is perhaps the only living member of that first University staff. There were about three hundred students, Mr. Young remembers, and for them there was one chemistry laboratory, where he supervised several details, such as distilling water for the experiments.

"Dr. Mallet was indeed a wonderful man, wrote the U. T. pioneer to Dr. Benedict last term. "He was about six feet tall, straight, and had a powerful command. I shall ever be grateful for the example he set before me and the students while the University was in its cradle. His words expressed obedience to those who were under him."

After his year in the service of the state, and after his position in the construction of the Capitol, he and a friend went west in a covered wagon. In West Texas he has lived ever since. Yesterday he gloried in campus memories of the past. Then he turned west once more.

J. R. REYNOLDS DIED SUNDAY OCTOBER 31

After suffering an attack of paralysis about two weeks previously J. R. Reynolds passed away at the Hamlin Hospital, Sunday, October 31, age 78 years, 11 months and 2 days.

Mr. Reynolds had been a man of unusual strong physique, and seldom ever felt ill, and his death came as a shock to many of his friends.

J. R. Reynolds was born in Florence, Alabama, November 29, 1858. He was a child of 10 years when his father died and at that time moved to Mississippi, and in this state was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Gooch, in 1881, giving them a companionship of 55 years married life. In 1887 the family moved to Texas, settling in Celest, Hunt County. In 1905 the Reynolds family moved to Shackelford county and from there moved to Hamlin in 1907, where they have since made their home.

During the passing years Mr. Reynolds built up an ever widening circle of friends in this section of West Texas. He was a man of few words, and always carried a pleasant face for those whom he met. He impressed one as being jovial and taking life in an even manner. He faced his many problems with an outward calm, and never evidenced worry to his family or friends.

Mr. Reynolds is survived by his faithful companion and two sons and three daughters. Their names and addresses are as follows: Will J. Reynolds and Clifford R. Reynolds of Hamlin. Mrs. W. R. Carter, Hamlin. Mrs. Joe Crow of Albany and Mrs. H. Davis of Breckenridge. One sister and one brother who reside in Mississippi. In the family there are 13 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren. It is noteworthy to say here that in the long span of 55 years of married life of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, this is the only death to ever come to their immediate family.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at three o'clock in the Church of Christ, in charge of the pastor, Minister Woodie Holden, and other pastors of the city.

The body was in charge of the Barrow Company and interment was in East Cemetery.

John R. Holland of the Hitson community was recently called to Clarendon by the death of his mother, Mrs. Joe Holland. The funeral was held last Saturday at the Methodist Church in that city. Rev. G. S. Hardy, formerly of Hamlin assisted. She was nearly 77 years of age. Among the survivors at the Filley county children. John Holland and Mrs. E. E. Patterson of Roby.

A NEW STORE

The Herald observes that the building owned by Miss Vaughn, is being dressed out with bright new colors and that a new business is threatening to open soon. Further investigation is that Mr. W. F. Candridge of Olney is preparing to have a formal opening, perhaps next week-end.

W. R. Parks also of Olney, will be the manager. Listen for their announcement next week.

This week people haven't been doing "things" or they have kept it from reaching our ears and eyes. Any way rumors have been flying thick and fast, so there is some food for thought—even though we aren't authorized to publish it. However, we're like the old maid who said, "Thank Heaven for the rumor."

Don't be frightened if upon entering our local bank you feel a disturbance in the elements. There is not an earthquake within a million miles—it's just a certain dark-haired steno's heart beat. The rumor is she's madly in love.

Have you seen the bearded man running loose in our town this week? We heard that he bears a marked resemblance to one of our leading lawyers.

A certain red-headed clerk of one of our dry goods stores has a great attraction for women—especially blonds.

Congratulations to John T. Day for the recent modern improvements he has made on his store. The front is all "diked out" in shiny black vitrolite and a new coat of orange paint. These attractive windows feature this week gas heaters and Aladdin lamps. Congrats, Mr. Day!

Well, well, well, mama's little contractor is back in circulation. Welcome home, Baby Ben!

Here and there: Three young blades of our fair city in a new Buick sedan were in a terribly big hurry Wednesday night.

People with guilty consciences certainly give themselves away. Have you heard the manager of a local dry goods firm "howling" about paragraphs which appeared in our column recently?

Two leading business men were feeling gay and giddy at a Mexican wedding the other night.

There's a definite scarcity of girls in Hamlin for two young men (interested in drugs and cafes respectively) dated one girl at the same time. Dicky F. lost his road map and went to Waco last week-end.

What prominent manager and owner of a local dry goods store was greatly disturbed and worried about how a certain drug company could live up to the sign displayed in the window—"Free Bicycle with each 25c of school supplies?" (If the gentleman will notice, its POP cycle and not B-cycle.)

We understand that Dan Cupid has very recently taken a well-known cafe man out of circulation and locked him within the chains of matrimony.

What prominent and well-known manager of a local ready-to-wear shop received a huge bouquet of roses from a secret love. (Perhaps we had better look into that.)

The story is told on a certain young fire insurance man that he was roused from peaceful slumbers the other night to "trade for a hog in a business deal." People wonder whether it was really a hog or just an alibi—because nobody that is sober ever saw a blond headed hog.

What well-known matron, famous for her cooking, made a very great mistake this week when she put V. V. V. in pies instead of vanilla flavoring?

Much complaint is being voiced about cows and other stock which is kept in town. From what we hear, the local variety stores should be doing a rushing business in selling perfume and clothes-pins.

HAMLIN JUNIORS HELD CARNIVAL

On Saturday night, October 30, the Junior Class of the Hamlin High School, presented the annual Halloween Carnival at the high school. A crowd of approximately 600 was attracted by this event.

Unique and interesting side shows and booths furnished much amusement, entertainment. Outstanding among these were Little Mexico where Mexican food was served, Bug House, Top Hat Nite Club, Midway Tripley's Believe It or Not, and the Burning Forest.

During the evening a varied program was given in the high school auditorium. A series of stunts was presented by each of the four classes of high school, after which a stage show featured talented and popular entertainers of this section. Those appearing on the program were: Misses Peggy Knight and Maxine Brundage, pianist Burt Fuller and Craigolene Elmore, tap dancers; a roller skating act by Max Taylor; the high school band directed by Mr. C. M. Watson, Victor Colborn, Misses Rosemary Carlton and Judy Dozier singers.

Climaxing the program and the carnival spirit, Miss Juanita Harbert of the Senior Class, escorted by Thomas Williams of the same class, was crowned Queen of Hamlin High School for 1937-38 an impressive and beautiful ceremony. The throne in the school colors green and white, centered the stage. Just back of the throne, large, silvered letters H. H. S. served as a background. The page, Master Burt Fuller, carried the silver crown which was inscribed with the letters H. H. S. in green. Princesses and their escorts were Miss Arlina Treadwell and Harold Fletcher of the Freshman class, Miss Faye Barton and J. E. Walton, Jr. of the Sophomore class, Miss Billie Jackson and De France Burton of the Junior class.

This was the twelfth annual Halloween Carnival to be presented by the Junior class of Hamlin High School, and the event proved to be more popular than ever before.

JUNIOR CARNIVAL

VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Junior class of Hamlin High School presented the 12th annual Halloween Carnival in the high school building, Saturday night, Oct. 30, to a large and enthusiastic crowd. This year's event has been declared one of the most successful and outstanding school carnivals ever seen in West Texas.

The Junior class and their sponsor Miss Doris Pope, are very pleased with the outcome of the carnival, and we wish to acknowledge with sincere appreciation and gratefulness the hearty cooperation and support received from the citizens of Hamlin.

We especially wish to thank the business men of our city who helped us put our campaign of advertising over and had a great part in making the carnival successful.

To those appearing on the Junior stage show, we wish to express our appreciation for helping us in the entertainment.

Then, too, we owe much to the sponsors, faculty members and the student body of Hamlin High School for backing us so whole heartedly and enthusiastically in all of our tasks. To every one who had either a direct or an indirect part in helping the Juniors make this Carnival an outstanding success, we again say, "Thank you."

—The Junior Class.

Miss Florence Boyd, a teacher in the Sweetwater public schools, accompanied by Phil Sparkman, of Sweetwater visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boyd, Sunday.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUL, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardul, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

THE REST OF THE RECORD

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

As I write this column the special session has been over two days. I regret exceedingly the unfortunate outcome of the thirty-day meeting of the legislators. The sad and pitiful part of it is that nothing was done to help the needy people, the blind and our underprivileged children—notwithstanding repeated exhortations and warnings. Not only that, but Texas will lose several million dollars of Federal funds to carry on this program.

The people are confused and indignant over the outcome. Certain groups such as the representatives of special interests apparently are well contented with the report brought me at the close of the Legislature by the Senate notification committee, which advised me rather gleefully they "had done their work well."

The question uppermost in the minds of the people, however, is "Who, or what, is to blame for these lamentable conditions resulting in the failure to provide funds for the social security program?"

Conflicting statements have been issued since the session by certain senators and house members. Some of the people are unable to fix clearly the responsibility. Why?

The present two-house system of the Legislature is made to order for manipulation and buck passing by shrewd parliamentarians. This is not the first session to end with each house blaming the other. The difference is that with the changing and complex problems of recent years this condition has grown worse. Not all the members of either house are to be condemned; yet, the good, the patriotic the diligent, the sincere members often find themselves condemned along with reactionaries and demagogues.

Lawyers will tell you that delay and time are the greatest aids to a man charged with crime. Delay and time are likewise the most powerful weapons that can be employed to defeat progressive legislation. Under our present legislative system these weapons are readily available and freely employed.

During the past session the people have witnessed a strange situation. The special session was called for the purpose of raising revenues for the needy. A powerful minority group declared no taxes were necessary and employed every artifice possible to defeat the purpose of the session. Certain newspapers criticized the call and advocated no taxes.

Now that the session has ended we find that the spokesmen for the same minority group and for the same newspapers criticize the legislature for not passing a tax bill—the very thing they said should not be done.

I shall have more to say later concerning this session.

The untimely death of Judge O. S. Lattimore shocked the entire state. The beloved judge had served with outstanding distinction on the Court of Criminal Appeals for many years. Friends and close associates, as well as admirers from all walks of life, testified to the love and esteem in which Judge Lattimore was held as they solemnly gathered to pay final tribute to this distinguished son of Texas.

Faced with appointment of his successor, I chose Harry N. Graves of Georgetown who resigned from the Legislature to accept the judgeship. He is one of the noblest characters I have ever known. Courageously and unselfishly, Judge Graves has served the people of his district and state for many years. He is preeminently qualified for this great office and while I regret his patriotic service in the legislature will be ended, I felt that his outstanding service and character should be rewarded.

The appointment of a member of the Legislature to a judgeship was not without precedent. From the Forty-fourth Legislature, I selected Sarah Hughes of Dallas to fill a vacancy as district judge. She became the first woman judge in the history of Texas and her splendid record as district judge has won the admiration and acclaim of the Dallas bar.

SAFEGWAY STORES

KNOW TEXAS

By F. L. McDONALD, T. S. C. W.
NEWS BUREAU, DENTON

DOGS ON THE DECLINE

DENTON, Nov. 1.—Are Texans turning back on "man's best friend?"

Figures show that there are around 600 fewer dogs in this state now than in 1935, when there were less than in 1934. Counting mongrels, lapdogs, watchdogs, sheepdogs and all varieties there were only 3900 of them in 1936. Either a great number of grouchy neighbors are getting out the poison kits or owners don't rate their pets worthy of a license any more. Or perhaps their ancient feline enemies are finally getting the upper hand.

MEETINGPLACE OF CULTURE

Within the borders of Texas may be hidden links in the history of our earliest ancestors, according to archaeologists. Texas is in the heart of a great North American triangle whose corners are the Maya-Aztec section, the Pueblo area and the mound-builder area. Since these three great cultures found a common ground in Texas, many hints as to their inter-tribal relationships are being found and studied today.

KEEPING AHEAD

Although most Texans know that their state leads in many ways, they may be interested in a compact list of "firsts." Texas is first in production of petroleum, natural gas, natural gasoline, carbon black, sulphur, cotton, grain sorghums, spinach, pecans, beef, mutton wool, mohair and hides. Other firsts are in total area, total number of domestic animals, cattle, beef cattle, sheep, goats, mules and turkeys.

Mrs. M. T. York spent the week-end in Waco visiting her son, Marvin, who is a student in Baylor University. She was accompanied to Waco, by Miss Pat Allbritton who visited her parents, and Miss Geneva Allbritton who visited former college friends.

Didn't Know His Animals

The boy was probably mentally deficient and a test was indicated.

"How many ears has a cat?" queried the psychologist.

"Two."

"And how many eyes has a cat?"

"Two."

"Say Doc" asked the boy, "didn't you ever see a cat?"

Exchange.

It's a lot easier to go from bad to worse than from good to better.

Borrowing

Go to friends for advice; to women for pity; to strangers for charity; to relatives for nothing. Spanish Proverb.

To prepare joys for those surrounding us, that especially makes us loye life. Everyone has not the calling of a scholar, a deep thinker, but everyone knows how to love.—Mme. Edgar Quinet.
